There is a growing awareness of the need to address the needs of older people in the community, and the need to ensure that they are able to live independently and safely. This has led to a number of initiatives, including the development of community care packages, the establishment of care homes, and the provision of home care services.

One of the main challenges facing the health and social care system is the need to ensure that older people are able to live independently and safely. This requires a range of services, including housing, transport, and social support.

The aim of this paper is to explore the needs of older people in the community, and to identify the services that are needed to meet these needs. The paper will also discuss the challenges facing the health and social care system, and the need to ensure that older people are able to live independently and safely.

2. Methods

The data for this study were collected from a survey of older people in the community. The survey was conducted in 1998, and involved a series of interviews with older people, and a series of focus group discussions. The survey was conducted in a number of different locations, including care homes, community centres, and private homes.

key to good times

Friends and not so friendly people gather at school events to show their spirit. As they gather, all the unkind thoughts and feelings people have towards each other change. Instead of bad thoughts of one another, they cling together with affection and happiness, sharing their gratitude and pleasant experiences, exchanging smiles and good will.

Now, rather than seeing each person as one and only one, each is seen as part of Hanover, one group experiencing and sharing love.

Spirit! Spirit! Yes we do!

This year the student council chose a western theme for spirit week. The week started off with college day, then cowboy day, clash day, Indian day, and school colors day.

The halls were decorated by the different classes. Each class showed its spirit by working on the halls. On Tuesday, the wild west was revived, featuring the cowboys. They wore the traditional hats, boots and jeans.

Members of the student council will long remember the day they were sold as slaves. Mr. Wierman from the Lowell station WLCL was our auctioneer. After the auction, the crowd encouraged fellow students to devour pies. Two representatives from each class participated. To dispose of the pies that were left Mr. Ron Roller, Mr. Joseph Fetty and Mr. Brad Stewart were used for target practice.

Wednesday many students showed spirit by coming to school in various colors of clothes. How about a combination of a purple, green and blue striped shirt, matching perfectly with orange and pink striped pants?

Thursday the juniors collected wood for the bonfire which, was lit that night despite the snow and cold. The classic outhouse was put on the very top of the bonfire.

Friday brought the homecoming parade. Cheerleaders, along with Pom Pon girls, participated along with a new horse-riding section. After the parade, students assembled in the gym to participate in a pep-session.

"MMMMMM good!" exclaims Jim Keilman as he stuffs pies, pies, and more pies into his mouth. The junior class won the pie eating contest. Jim Keilman came in first with Al Rumsey following close behind. Lower right: The traditional outhouse is perched on top of the gathered wood before the Great Fire.

Homecoming Queen and Mr.

Homecoming is probably one of the most exciting times of spirit week. With Mrs. Sue Roller's careful planning and enthusiasm, homecoming was a great success. On the evening of Dec. 3, between the junior varsity and varsity games, candidates for Queen, Mr. Basketball and the Queen's Court members were introduced. After the introductions, made by Dave Rumas and Steve Slivka, the 1978 Homecoming Queen, Miss Jenny Lee Casten, was named; but the suspense did not end there. Mr. Basketball had yet to be announced. That crowning was done at the dance following the games. Candidates were: Dale Gurgel, Mike Magnant, Roger Steuer and Mike Williams. The former Mr. Basketball, Chuck Shropshire, did the honors, crowning Dale Gurgel as Mr. Basketball of 1978.

The annual Cedar Lake Junior Miss Pageant was held Saturday, Nov. 5, 1977. The pageant began at 8 p.m. in Hanover Central's auditorium. There were five girls from Hanover competing for this honor: Sue Tomeszewski, Jeannine Tortorici, Ellyn Heckaman, Darcy Dodge and Linda Noel.

Three of the girls in the pageant received $25 savings bonds and awards for special achievements. Linda Noel was honored for the Spirit of Junior Miss, Darcy Dodge was recognized as Most Talented Contestant, and Ellyn Heckaman received the Scholastic Award.

Finally, the big moment arrived: "First runner up for Junior Miss 1978 is . . . Sue Tomeszewski, and Junior Miss for 1978 is . . . Jeannine Tortorici."

Jeannine went to the state contest, which was held in Frankfort. There she competed with girls from other parts of Indiana to see who would be the one to represent Indiana in the Miss U.S.A. Pageant.

Jeannine said that, "Being Junior Miss is a great experience. I encourage every senior girl to think about entering the Junior Miss Pageant."

First play—'Mousetrap'—Success!!

Mr. Paravincini (Rich Wachowiak) is the mysterious unexpected guest.

"The Mousetrap," the longest-running play in the history of the English-speaking theater, is an Agatha Christie mystery. It takes place at Monkswell Manor, a guest house in England. It is a typical "Who done it?" mystery with a very iron-nic ending. It was presented at Hanover by Thespian Troop 1051, with performances on Thursday, Oct. 20, 1977, for the junior high, and on Friday, Oct. 21, and Saturday, Oct. 22, for the public.

At the extreme left, Mrs. Boyle (Kathy Xanders) listens as Detective Sergeant Trotter (Steve Slivka), sitting on the back of the sofa, explains that the facts show that someone will be murdered, not realizing that she will be the victim. No one ever suspected that Trotter might be the "Culver Street Murderer!"

At a rehearsal, Molly (Jeannine Tortorici) can't help letting out a giggle while being "murdered" by Trotter (Steve Slivka).

... along with "Potpourri," and "Our Town"

"Potpourri" was presented at Hanover Central after a month's delay on January 20, and 21, 1978. It consisted of the three plays, "Liberated Cinderella," "Ledge, Ledger, and Ledgend," and "Nobody Sleeps." It also had two skits, "Girls Will Be Girls," and "Makeup." Considering the terrible weather, there was a good turn-out both nights.

"Our Town" was presented. It is a three act play telling of the lives of the people of Grover's Corners, a small town in New Hampshire. The faculty was in this play along with students, and members of Thespian Troop 1051.

Lower left: Smerdina (Kathy Wachowiak), behind the couch, expresses her grief as Auntie Rumples (Tari Spurr), with the fruit hat, scolds her for acting insane, while Grizelda (Judi Hillger), sitting, and Cinderella (Roni Gracz), mopping, listen. What had bubbling streams of water, tropical fruit, native servers, travel posters, leis and an air of excitement? The T.V. program, "Hawaii Five-O", right? Wrong! It was the Hanover Central Junior-Senior Prom for 1978. The House of Lynwood, Lynwood, Ill., housed the big chunk of Hawaii for all the fortunate couples attending.

It began at 7 p.m. Friday, May 19. As each couple arrived, they were given a lei and were announced to the other couples. Chatter filled the room as couples arrived and decided with whom they would sit.

Later, the first course of the meal, tropical punch, was served in tall glasses with the inscription: "An Evening in Paradise." Then, Hawaiian fruit salad in pineapple shells was served. For dinner, tossed salad, sirloin of beef au jus, green beans almonidine, double-baked potato, rolls and butter and apple slices were served. (cont. on Page 21)

At the end of the evening, the band played a fanfare which announced that a special ceremony was going to take place. Girls giggled, boys cracked big grins (for they knew what was about to happen).

Masculinity oozed out of all the guys as they snatched the best prize of the whole evening, their ladies' garters.

The Long and

On June 4, 1978, Hanover Central said goodbye to the seniors of 1978. Many eyes misted over as parents, teachers and friends watched the seniors receive their diplomas. The senior girls wore blue gowns and the boys wore maroon gowns. Commencement ceremonies began at 2 p.m. The high school band played "Pomp and Circumstances" as the seniors marched in.

The class valedictorian, Ellyn Heckaman, and class salutatorian, Bill VanDerPol, made speeches. Judi Hilger, senior class social director, presented the class gift, a piano, to the school. Laura Xanders and Sherry Neitzel sang the class theme. "The Long and Winding Road," while Judi accompanied them on the piano.

The class colors were blue and gold and the class flower was the White Rose. Class sponsors were Mr. John Brindley and Mrs. Betsy Doffin.

The invocation was given by Reverend William A. Davis and the benediction was given by Father William Ferruzzi. Dr. Larry Grabb and Mr. Gordon Paquin presented the diplomas.

The Senior Banquet was the last gathering of the class of '78 before graduation. While Mr. John Brindley gave his final speech to the senior class, he became overwhelmed by emotions and warm feelings, which brought tears to his eyes.

The banquet was at the San Remo restaurant in Griffith May 12. After class president Val Ploetz announced Leo Milazzo and Ray Shingler as masters of ceremonies, dinner was begun. Between courses, awards were given to some of the seniors for their well-known characteristics. During dessert, Remember Whens and Senior Wills were read by Darcy Dodge and Cindy Carpenter. After dinner, the disco dance was started.

Although members of the class of '78 will go their own separate ways, each will take with him or her the memories that were created at Hanover Central High School.

Convocations break monotony.

There were many convocations this year, covering various subjects. The first one was the Powder Puff football game, which was won by the senior girls.

In October, the Hendersons showed their gymnastic abilities in the Rohn Rod.

In November, Congressman Floyd Fithian gave a political talk in the auditorium and students were able to ask him questions. Many students felt that Mr. Fithian didn't really answer their questions but rather talked around them.

In December, folk singer Mick Scott entertained.

In January, Wally Kann tumbled around on the trampoline and the matt.

Student Council started showing movies. The first one seen was "Towering Inferno."

In April, Tom Twining and his wife Jody, both karate experts, gave a demonstration on this defensive sport. They talked and demonstrated how to do basic moves. They also told something about karate's origin.

A week later, the rock group "Franklin's Kite" performed in the gymnasium.

The convos were not only a nice opportunity to be out of class for a while, they were also fun, and, for those who were really interested, some were an occasion to learn something new.

Preparations for '78 Turnabout began well in advance. Tickets were purchased up to two weeks before the dance; they sold for $7 a couple. Pictures by Wahlberg's were an additional $6.50. All decorations and food preparations were done by the Pom Cats.

The candidates and their escorts were: Deb Baacke, escorted by Mike Magnant; Sandy Baacke, escorted by Rick Jacobson; Cindy Carpenter, escorted by Mike Shanks; Darcy Dodge, escorted by Kip Petyko, and Lynn Stover escorted by Steve Seils. Teachers leave

Mrs. Williams questions Mike Rebenack and John Hunley about different types of food.

Mrs. Allegra Williams retired from teaching on January 27, 1978. She had taught for 27 years.

Mrs. Williams grew up on a farm between Lowell and Shelby. She attended grade school in Shelby and attended high school in Lowell. When she was 24, she attended Illinois State University while working part time as a maid and governess.

She is a member of the First Methodist Church administrative board in Crown Point. She has been a teacher of Sunday School, and has been a Campfire and 4-H leader.

Mrs. Williams taught for one year in Illinois, in South Bend for 15 years, and taught in Ohio for one year before coming to Hanover. She left teaching for about five years when she was asked to join the extension service and work as a home demonstration agent by Purdue University.

After she moved into Crown Point, she inspected fresh markets during summers.

After her seven years at Hanover, the Home Economics department will never forget her.

Mrs. Mary Love has been the student council sponsor for six years. "I have really enjoyed working with the students, and I have enjoyed helping them find new things to do. They are a nice group of kids, and each year I have gotten different people. Council members seem to be able to work out the problems that arise during the student council class."

Mrs. Love added, "I am retiring because I think they need a younger person who has new ideas. They need someone they can relate to more easily. Also, I would like to devote more time to my family."

According to Mrs. Love, one of the most interesting functions they have attended was the convention in Muncie, Indiana. "Also, Homecomings have been very interesting."

About council members, Mrs. Love said, "I think that the student body should appreciate them more than they seem to."

Among its activities, the National Honor Society sponsored the senior-faculty game and held a special luncheon for teachers at the beginning of this year. Members are selected on the basis of their leadership, character, citizenship and service.

Society officers are: President—Ellyn Heckaman; Vice-President—Jeannine Tortorici; Secretary—Judi Hillger, and Treasurer—Laura Xanders. Mr. Gary Young is society sponsor.

This year, special recognition was given to Mr. Young when was inducted as an honorary member.

The Pom Pon girls participated in the Zionsville, free dance and drill team competition this year.

They also bought new uniforms that can be worn in a few different ways. These uniforms were made by Mrs. Juana Stover. The money for these uniforms was raised on tag day; over one thousand dollars was collected.

SHOPS

Why do students enjoy the shop classes so much? Because they are given the chance to build and construct, things they enjoy most. Students in the auto classes rebuild engines and work on frames of cars by replacing old, rusted parts with new parts. In drafting classes, students draw dream houses and practice being real architects. Woods students build furniture and sell their finished products.

For a fund raising project, the class made and sold letter organizers to people for Christmas presents; they sold for $4. This proved very profitable and the classes are planning more fund-raising projects for the future.

The classes are taught by: Mr. Philip Apple, Graphic Arts I, II, III. Mr. Norman Holmes, Woods I, II, III, and Industrial Arts. Mr. Gregg Hogge, Metals I, II, III. Mr. David Bruzek, Auto Shop and Auto Mechanics. Mr. John Shipley, Drafting I, II, III, and Photography.

In graphic arts, Bob Blouin demonstrates how to set type for his classmates.

Roger Steuer shows his ability to work with wood.

Readin', writin', and 'rithmetic were some of the staples offered at Hanover this year. New this year are Miss Debbie Weidenbach, English, and Mrs. Sandra French, Math. Other members of the English staff include Mr. Gary Young, Mr. Randall Kahn, Mrs. Debbie Thompson, Mr. Gene Rajchel. Members of the math staff are: Mrs. Mary Love, Mr. Bruce Farley and Mrs. French.

A new high school English requirement was instituted this year. From now on, students must take four years of English, not just three.

So, as teachers change, so does the curriculum and requirements, while much stays the same much also changes.

CHEMICALS + EXPERIMENTATION

Not only was "Star Wars" a big success with Hanover students this year, so was the science department. New to the department this year is Mr. Dan Metcalf, teaching Lab Science I, II and chemistry. Other members of the department include Mrs. Judy Dermody, who teaches Biology I, II and lab science, Mrs. Sue Roller, Biology I, and Mr. Bill Whitestone, ecology and earth science.

Students learn a lot in these classes by doing experiments with chemicals, exploring the anatomy of animals and humans and studying the earth's ecology.

With all this offered in the science department, no wonder students take a great interest in science at Hanover!

Publications Require Dedication

This year's newspaper staff can be summed up in one word and that word is "dedicated." Sponsor Mr. Randall Kahn said, "Staff members spend at least two nights per deadline after school." First semester, the staff was under the leadership of editor Kathy Xanders; second semester, they were led by co-editors Mike Snyder and Linda Noel. Mr. Kahn supervised the operation of the staff. He said, "Between the editors and myself a story is read at least seven times before it goes to press."

The sports section was led by Sue Alvey and Bob Doyal, and Revonah's funds were managed by Jeff Crabb. According to Mr. Kahn, "We produced a paper every three weeks first semester and every two weeks the second. This was a very rough schedule to meet for a generally inexperienced staff, but we managed it without many problems."

Linda Noel pieces together one of the pages to be printed. Top: Paul Kozlowski works on a drawing intended for the newspaper.

This year's theme for Hanover Central's yearbook is "The Key of Life." The staff is led by Mike Snyder, senior and editor. Mike has put many hours of frustration, hope and care into the 1977-78 yearbook. Many nights were spent at Hanover Central working on layouts and producing pictures for frustrated staff members.

Each separate section of the book has its own editor; for student life, Rene Partain is section editor; Tari Spurr is editor of the sports section; Dawn Tussey is editor for student activities, and Kathy Backe is in charge of the album section. These people must be responsible and dependable at all times. Sometimes, they literally have to push staff members to get their pages done on time. The section editors approve layouts and rough layouts before they go to the editor for his approval and have pages of their own to do also.

The work, time and effort that goes into a yearbook is rewarded when the book is published and given out to the students. Every staff member has the great feeling of success and pleasure of doing a fine job.

Playing

The band adds a special touch to school activities by holding seasonal concerts, performing at graduation ceremonies and awards night and playing for the Pom Pon Corps. Interested members of the band annually attend the NIS-BOVA Assembly and Ensemble Contest; the band placed second. Rick Wachowiak was the first Hanover student to compete in state competition in three years.

Band members participated in the Cedar Lake Memorial Day, Lowell Labor Day, and three local Fourth of July parades; a new addition was the Highland Christmas Parade. The high school band was also connected with the Pom Pon Corps and played at half time during junior varsity and varsity basketball games.

The band received new uniforms this year. Mr. John Gorbail said, "The uniforms fit our needs; they are up to date, close to school colors and the students like the hats."

Mr. James Nicholas completes

Ten years of teaching at Hanover are credited to Mr. James Nicholas who teaches bookkeeping classes first, second, fourth and sixth hours and Typing II fifth hour.

Mrs. Gail Lemon, who taught 3 years at Hanover, took a maternity leave in the 77-78 school year, leaving her classes to Mrs. Sue Pasierb. Mrs. Pasierb took over Mrs. Lemon's Typing I, office practice, business machine, and data processing classes.

In his first year of teaching at Hanover, Mr. Don Thompson had general business and business math classes.

Teaching shorthand classes is Mr. Ron Roller, in his fourth year of teaching at Hanover. Also in his fourth year of teaching at Hanover is Mr. William Whistestine, teaching business law.

Twenty-one students attended this eight-day learning experience, where they visited Mexico City, Taxco, and Acapulco.

key to victory!

What would our school be like without sports? Could you imagine all the people who would not be in shape? Hanover Central has a sports program. Maybe it's not like those at other schools, and that may be what makes us so unique. Sure, we don't have football, but then we do have a lot of other things in place of it. For instance, for guys we have: tennis, cross country, track, basketball, baseball, golf, volleyball, and wrestling; For girls we have: track, basketball, and volleyball.

Students who go out for sports are a very special kind of people. They work hard for what they achieve, but sometimes even though we try we don't succeed. Dedication is one of the key factors in sports. Without dedication, could we still have a sports program?

The Hanover wrestling team experienced a new coach—actually a whole new coaching staff, including Coach Andy Kmeic and Coach Bob Zerby with Assistant Coach Brad Stewart. Although there were many new and inexperienced wrestlers, team members really worked hard and gave their best.

Have you ever walked through the mezzanine after school and heard the sounds of pain coming from the wrestlers? A wrestler must really be devoted to starve himself to keep at a certain weight, to work out, to run and, last but not least, to go out on the mat and wrestle someone that he's never met before—all for Hanover.

This year's record was 3-6. Craig Moehlman was undefeated. He went to Sectionals where he came in second, and he went on to Regionals. Most of the other wrestlers received a fourth place in Sectionals.

The cross-country runner is a hard-working, untiring and determined young man. When you leave the cross-country course moaning about a second or third place finish in a quality meet, he is the youngster who, with a smudge of dirt on his cheek, sweat on his brow, pain in his body and a tear in his eye, humbles and enriches you with a few simple words: "We tried."

This year's cross-country team tried and succeeded in many quality meets. They finished with an 8-0 record in the conference Round Robin meets and won the conference meet. They finished second in the North Newton, Lake Central and Twin Lakes Invitationals, and third in the Crown Point and South Central Invitationals. They took a seventh place in Sectionals, receiving the best placing ever for a Hanover cross-country team. Their season record is 14 wins and 5 losses.

Baseball in the 77-78 school year wasn't the best for victories but was a true learning experience for the young Wildcat team.

As a team, players worked together to improve their skills. The young team tried to survive the season as three seniors, Pete Kozlowski, Xavier Becerra and John Westerhoff, lead them in their victories and defeats.

"The underclassmen showed the talent to anchor a winning team in the future," said Coach Dave DeMuth.

Tennis swings with a 6-2 season

Is it true that things repeat themselves? Well, after seven years Hanover's tennis team returns, but hopefully to stay. The last tennis team was headed by Coach Dick Norris. Now, seven years later, Coach Ron Roller is heading our tennis team.

With a 6-2 record, it looks like we still have what it takes to be a winning team. Coach Roller feels that even though we will lose five senior players, next year we will still have a good team.

Varsity basketball is one of the strongest sports at Hanover. With seven wins and 12 defeats, our Varsity Wildcats never gave in. "They are a strong team and easy to coach," said Coach Ron Roller. Our Wildcats showed good teamwork, with 254 assists, hard work and long hours of practice. Mike Williams and Roger Steuer proved that seniors can do a good job and come through in their final year.

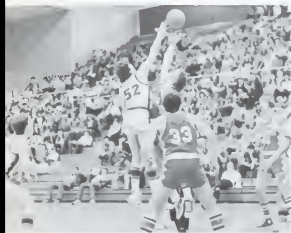

Even though the team was tough, the fans weren't. It seems the more fans in attendance, the better a team plays; but we must get in the spirit or we will lose it all. Coach Ron Roller voiced the commonest complaint, "We needed a lot more fans at away games." Some of the players asked, "Why were the fans, Pom Cats, pep band, pep club and the parents fantastic at home, but few fans came out to support us at away games?" Fans must ask themselves: would Hanover have had a better season, if more fans had shown more support?

The junior varsity team was a good one this year. The team had a 15-4 record and didn't lose one game on the home court. The team had a very good attitude, which helped players during the season. The key to the J.V. success was that each player had a part to play on the team. In most cases they did what they were supposed to do. Even though the J.V. did do well this year, they wish to see more people out to watch them play.

The performance the J.V. gave us this year was outstanding compared to old records. It is almost impossible to get a better record than 15-4 with the teams we play each year. J.V. team members gave up their spare time to give us a year in basketball we could cheer about. With the type of playing the J.V. players did, they sure can hold their heads up high.

This year's freshman basketball team experienced a rather rough season as far as winning games, but Coach Bruce Farley said, "The experience that the team members received was much more valuable than winning." He added that, "They were a small team of only eight players and had to play a tough schedule. I feel that they began the season as a very inexperienced team, but improved immensely near the end." They finished the season with a record of three wins and 14 losses (excluding "B" team games). According to Coach Farley, "With a little bit of practice out of season, this year's players will be good junior varsity material next season."

You remove your sweats and chills run up and down your body as the cool spring winds blow. The starter announces "The commands will be: runners to your marks, get set, and then the gun. Timers ready. Runners to your marks." As you back into your blocks, the adrenaline begins to flow throughout your system. "Get set." You rise, tense and ready to explode at the sound of the gun. Approximately two monotonous seconds pass you by, and then it happens. That tense feeling is converted into raw energy as you push your body to its limits.

Every trackman this year pushed to his limits and was rewarded for it. This season, for the first time in Hanover's history, the team won the Porter County Conference (P.C.C.) meet. For the second year in a row, the boys' and girls' track teams got together to win the Annual Hanover Relays from five other strong teams. They placed second in the Lowell Relays behind a strong North Newton team. Under the leadership of Coach Bruce Farley, the team ended its season with ten wins and three losses. In P.C.C. Round-Robin competition, they earned a seven-win, one-loss record.

Golf tees off with a good season.

Golf teed off with a shortened season this year due to all the rain. There were few practices with many postponed matches. The home course for the Wildcat golfers was South Shore Country Club golf course. With only two senior members, the rest of the team members are looking forward to a better year, next year. Even with all the rain and postponement, they still pulled themselves out of the mud and had a good season. The varsity's record this year, 18 and 12, is its best record yet.

The girls' track team worked very hard for a winning season this year. The conference record was 6-2. Miss Carol Grady coached the team and Joanne Cokenour and Terri Spurr were managers.

The girls practiced very hard every day after school unless weather did not permit it or a meet was scheduled. Hanover Central came in second at the first P.C.C. meet. Hanover Central came in first in the Hanover Relays. The girls' track team was very successful this year and members hope to be even better next year.

Boys' volleyball is a growing sport in high schools today. Hanover is no exception; this was our second year in boys' volleyball. We had an overall score of 6-3 for varsity and 4-7 for J.V.

Coach Dave DeMuth commented, "We started out good, but slowed down, then we picked back up as we went into sectionals. The main reason for this slow-down was because of injuries. Even though we lost a few games, we will still keep on going in future years."

The girls really worked hard this year. Tryouts were held during August. They were tough; only half of the girls made the team.

Junior Varsity Coach is Mrs. Bonnie Beamer, Captain is Maralee Young, Co-Captain is Sandy Baacke, Varsity Coach is Miss Carol Grady, Captain is Michelle Hildebrand, Co-Captain is Jennifer Hudspeth.

The conference record was 4-4 for both junior varsity and varsity volleyball this year. This is a good average considering there were so many new girls this season and there was a total of one senior on both teams.

The 1977-78 girls' basketball teams this year had a hard season. The girls really put out a lot of effort and hard work. Boys Join In Cheering

This year's cheerleaders added a new look to Hanover's varsity cheerleading squad. With a masculine touch, they could do bigger blocks and harder stunts. Each girl did many double stunts with her base (boy); these were performed during our team's free throws.

All the cheerleaders thought that adding guys to the squad would be a great idea. The guys said that it was hard work but fun. The cheerleaders want to continue having guys on the squad for next year.

This year, the freshmen and junior varsity cheerleaders worked very hard along with their sponsor, Mrs. Sue Roller. They had two practices a week during the summer and one practice a week when games began. A workshop was held for two days this year before tryouts. About 16 girls participated in tryouts.

The freshmen had three different uniforms this year and one new sweater to match a skirt they already had. All cheerleaders went to camp at Smith Walbridge. Several new routines and styles of cheerleading were practiced at camp. Still, cheerleaders did not allow the work to interfere much with their fun and games.

The Athletic Banquet this year was held on May 23 in the cafeteria and auditorium. The program started out with a buffet dinner. After everyone was through eating, all were adjourned to the auditorium. In the auditorium trophies and certificates were awarded.

Most students in athletics were recognized with certificates for participation in their sports. Those who did not receive certificates got a medal or trophy for being the most valuable player or having the best mental attitude.

key to memories

Your life has changed a lot since high school, and so have you. Most of your high school friends are gone, and you may never see them again; but you can remember them by looking through this yearbook. The yearbook is the key that will bring back memories as you turn the pages.

Persons you have long since forgotten will come back into your mind when you see their faces. That is why this section will be more important as the years slide by; the pictures should help you remember, and should bring a smile of recognition to your face.

Administration and school board lead Hanover

It takes a lot of people to make up Hanover, but it takes special people to run and operate it. The administration, along with the school board, puts in a lot of time and ideas to help Hanover to achieve its best.

With regular meetings once a month, the board, with the administration, look over school problems and decide what the best answers would be. These people are special people, devoted to doing the best for Hanover.

Seniors define themselves

Seniors have to pass many tests to graduate. One such examination is the competency test, which Dan Unger is taking.

Seniors: (sen/yer), n. 1. a person of greater rank, standing, or length of service. 2. a person in the graduating class of a high school or college. (Paraphrased from Webster's dictionary.)

What is a senior? I am a senior. I am in the twelfth grade. New responsibilities are constantly being thrown at me. I have, for the first time in my life, the ability to vote in public elections. How should I vote? Decisions, I have to make decisions that will change the rest of my life. Should I go to college, trade school, find a job, or will I get married?

What is a Hanover Central senior? I am a Hanover Central senior. I represent many things for the class of '78. I had to fight to have open campus for lunch this year. I had to pass the competency test in order to graduate. I watched the powder puff football team win in both my junior (7-6), and senior (13-0) years, the first team ever to do so. But mostly, I didn't do much more than be a senior.

'A country of opportunity'

"Who's that new girl with the funny name? There's no way I can pronounce that! Where'd she come from, anyway?"

"I'm not sure; her name is Ella Vlaar-something and I think she's from Holland."

Ella Vlaardingerbroek is the new girl, and she is from 't Harde, Holland. She is 17 years old and attended and graduated from Carolus Clusius H.S. in three years.

Ella is an exchange student from the Y.F.U. (Youth For Understanding) program. Ella stated: "So far, I have really enjoyed my stay here, and I have learned a lot. I think Americans are generally very friendly and open. It is definitely true that America is a country of opportunity."

The junior class held its annual candy sale. Many students were involved in selling the plain and peanut M & M's. A total of 220 cases were sold, with 36 boxes in each.

The class of '79 plans to put the profit of $1,027.80 towards the Junior-Senior Prom.

Seven cameras were given to the students who sold the most cases. Receiving cameras were Randy Richart, who sold 35 cases, Jim Keilman and Jennifer Hudspeth sold 10 cases, David Conrad sold 9. Carol Thackston, Jim Perrin and Sherryl Cook sold 8 cases.

"Fifty cents please!" says Randy Richart to Leona Lea.

New ways and ideas

Early in July of 1977, Chuck Smith went to the aid of Duane Scent and Tony Panizzo, whose truck was stranded along the road. As he worked between two vehicles, one was struck from behind and Chuck was pinned between them. His skull was fractured, ribs broken and his legs crushed; his right leg had to be amputated. After many operations and a five-month hospital stay, Chuck returned to school.

Throughout his ordeal, Chuck received lots of love and support from many people. He never lost his good spirits or his sense of humor. Chuck is grateful to the many people who helped and supported him after the accident. All of us at Hanover wish him a speedy recovery.

During spirit week, it's traditional to have a bonfire; but no longer will Hanover celebrate homecoming with a bonfire.

Many students threw snowballs at firemen, faculty members, and students. There were many complaints by nearby businesses about mud being tracked into stores and by parents about students whose clothes and shoes were completely covered with mud.

There were three accidents during the wood gathering. Also, the ground was unnecessarily torn up by racing vehicles and spinning tires.

The purpose of the bonfire was to help raise students' spirit and ready them for homecoming. The lack of cooperation by students and the extensive clean-up required afterwards are some of the reasons Hanover will not have any bonfires in the foreseeable future.

Duane Scent is lost in thought.

T.V. Guide tops all! This year the sophomore class sold magazine subscriptions to help raise money for the 1979 prom. More subscriptions were sold to T.V. Guide than any other magazine listed.

Even though they made a large sum of money, the sophomore class hopes to make a great deal more. They planned to have a light bulb sale in the spring. They hope to give the best prom ever.

The sophomores have already selected the prom site committee. Members are class officers and some sophomore students. They are searching for the best spot to have a memorable prom.

Sponsoring the sophomore class isn't the only thing that keeps Mrs. Sharon Cataldi busy; she is also an art teacher for the junior high school.

FROSH ACQUIRE NEW CLASS SPONSORS

Mrs. Sandra French and Miss Becky Thomas started off the 77-78 school year as sponsors for the Freshman class. In the fall of "77" President Mary Anderson, Vice President Karen Kenning, Treasurer Denise Flora, Secretary Mary Kozlowski and Social Director Joan Jillson were elected.

Concerned freshmen made plans to decorate halls for Spirit Week and worked a full month before the Homecoming game on their float to receive the award of second best Homecoming float.

BUSINESS IS THE KEY

TO EXPERIENCE

Henry Eugene Delocroix opens his small business promptly at 7 a.m., not realizing just how much he contributes to his community. He doesn't realize the money that his business circulates, stimulating our economy. He doesn't realize just how convenient it is to drive to his business instead of driving to the next town to buy the same products. But what he realizes the least is that his business creates jobs for people of all ages wishing to gain experience and earn money.

Awards Presented!!

The Thespian Banquet recognizes not only the most outstanding actresses and actors, but also the dedicated, and behind-the-scenes supporters. Many people don't realize how much the people acting on stage depend on the crew.

At the Thespian Banquet, Sue Tomaszewski was the mistress of ceremonies. Different members of the troop gave out some of the awards to deserving members. Other members performed skits for the night's entertainment. Judi Hillger presented a slide show. The slides were of the plays performed within the past four years. The Thespian Banquet was a success, thanks to all who participated.

Middle Right: These are the awards presented to Thespian and drama members.

Lower Right: Judi Hillger received the Female Thespian Award. Rick Wachowiak accepted the Male Thespian Award. Sue Tomaszewski received the honor of International Thespian. Jon Heichel received Best Actor Award. Jeannine Tortorici accepted Best Actress Award. Tim Nolan received Best Supporting Actor. Kathy Xanders received Best Supporting Actress. Tari Spurr and Miss Weidenbach accepted the special awards.

Hanover Central's Newspaper and Yearbook staffs had their Journalism Banquet. It was held May 17 at 7 p.m. in the school cafeteria. All students and their parents were invited. Guy Slaughter spoke to the students; he cautioned all of them to think before they write.

Mike Snyder was named Post Tribune Most Valuable Staffer by Cedar Lake correspondent Helen Snedden. The committee for the Banquet was from newspaper, Bev Marlow, Jackie Perales, Teri Baldwin and Paul Kozlowski. Sue Hansom, Tari Spurr, Dawn Tussey and Kathy Backe from the yearbook staff also served on the committee.

Above: Maralee Young, Allison Burgess, John Westerhoff, Kathy Backe and Kim O'Masta, along with Tari Spurr, won dedication awards on the Yearbook staff.

Top: Three members of publications are chosen for Quill and Scroll membership. Last year's members were Kathy Backe, Mike Snyder and Rick Smith. They are required to present the awards to the new members. This year's members are Sue Hansom, Rene Partain and Todd Teets.

Middle: Mark Kozlowski's parents bought this beautiful cake for the banquet.

Guy Slaughter was guest speaker at the Journalism Banquet. Mr. Slaughter's main theme for the night was "Think."

Custodians, secretaries, bus drivers and cooks are as much a part of the school as the teachers and students. Many people don't realize it, but these people are a big influence on our lives. Consciously and subconsciously, each student learns from these people. These staff members do a lot to help students and the school.

Janitors keep the school clean and sanitary, which not only results in a nice looking school, but also cuts down on health hazards. The secretaries keep all the school records in files. They are the ones who keep the school running smoothly. The bus drivers take many students to school and home again five days a week, nine months a year, through rain, sleet and hail. The cooks prepare a hot meal everyday, making sure it is nutritionally balanced.

These staff members act together as "the people behind the scenes."

Student Council Improves Our School

This year's student council, sponsored by Mrs. Mary Love, accomplished many things. President was Karl Jonason; Vice-President, Dave Rumas; Treasurer, Mike Magnant; and Secretary, Deb Baacke. Members worked very hard to have many dances, convocations, and movies, along with a good Spirit Week for the school. They used some of their funds to buy a new refrigerated water fountain to be installed next year. This was Mrs. Love's last year as student council sponsor.

Herf Jones printed 350 copies of the "Key" this year. The 152-page book is printed on bordeaux special, with the exception of pages 97-112, which are printed on colortext yellow.

Vista type (optima black) was used throughout the book. Black being the emphasis type, captions are eight-point, copy is ten-point, headlines are 30-point, and subheads are 24-point. All vertical headlines and tool lines are hand-set by the "Key" staff. Division type is 60-point, all capital letters.

The cover is made of two full-cover photographs (taken by Victor Studio) printed on a base white litho material.

Four-color process was applied to the Spirit Week and Homecoming pages: 8,9,12 and 13. Sky-blue endsheets were chosen.

Seniors had the privilege of having their names stamped in gold on the cover for a 50¢ charge.

The key to a year at Hanover is individuality. Each student contributes his or her own special talent, and works together with others to create many other keys. In the sports area, it takes hard work and dedication to create the key to victory.

Many kids wonder why they are taught some subjects; well, all learning is the key to knowledge. If you flip through this book, you will see many faces which are the key to memories. Turn to the back and look at our many supporting businesses, which are the key to experience for many students.

Throughout the year, with all of the gatherings and events, we have all realized that togetherness is the key to good times.

The yearbook staff would like to thank the following people: Al and Dorothy Massena of Victor Studio for all of their time, concern and hard work producing pictures for our book; Mr. John Shipley and his photography class (especially Karen Grosam and Shari Foreman) for most of the group and team photographs; Principal Gordon Paquin and Assistant Principal Joseph Fetty for their help, understanding and support; Mr. Gary Young Sr. for his advice, support, and proofreading skills; Mrs. Debbie Thompson for helping to proofread; Mr. Sam Campbell for his quick work building the darkroom, and his constant help; Kelly Sheldon and Val Ploetz for their photography work; and Rick Wachowiak for typing and proofreading. A special thanks to the student council for its financial support.
